The Graduate Management Admissions Test is an American designed computerised examination that combines essay and multiple-choice formats.

The GMAT is not a general knowledge test. Candidates need some specific knowledge of basic mathematics and verbal reasoning. It is an exam designed to measure their ability to think logically and employ a range of intellectual skills they have developed in their education and work.

Candidates are assessed in two broad areas: maths and verbal skills. Maths includes problem-solving, basic algebra and geometry. Verbal reasoning includes reading comprehension, critical reasoning and sentence correction. Candidates can prepare for the GMAT by purchasing books or taking preparatory classes. Most GMAT test-takers start preparing about 3 to 6 months before the actual test date.
